

Children should never be educated at home by their parents. Do you agree or disagree?

Some parents argue that their children should stay at home and be taught by themselves. However, most of the parents in the modern countries think that children should go to school and enter class like the other children. This essay will analyse two above views and present my opinion about this topic.

The fact is no doubt that parents often want to bring good things for their children since the formative years, that is why they want to teach their children by getting many experiences. Firstly, parents would like to teach their children social knowledges and culture for children, for example, how children could behave if they met old people. Secondly, parents are considered the close people with children so it is easy to teach them everything around them such as relationship, farm, town and country. Finally, most of the children in the feudal society just stayed at home and studied from their parents.

However the other view that children should be encouraged to go to school is also tended. First of all, children will be self-confident if they are educated in the new environment such as nursery, primary school because they can make friends and ask what they do not know. Furthermore, the new environment is interested in children by toys, pictures and colorful things in the kindergarten.

Moreover, teachers have many experiences about teaching and solving problem from children.

In conclusion, children should be encouraged to go to school rather than being taught by their parents. In my opinion, children will be more active and intelligent when they are in contact with the ir environment.

You need to proofread more carefully. The organization and content were fine, but there were too many grammar and spelling errors.
