

There are many different types of music in the world today. Why do we need music? Is the traditional music of a country more important than the international music this is heard everywhere nowadays?

Music is one of the best choices for people who want to relax or rest. There are many opinions believe that the international music is less important as the traditional music. This essay will discuss about this statement and give some supportable evidences for this problem.

First of all, every country has its own traditional music which is protected by the government. The traditional music may help a country develop by introducing the culture to the foreign nations. By the way, the amount of tourist will increase dramatically. Furthermore, the traditional music is foundation to increase many different kinds of music in the future. The authors, who do not know any things about traditional music, will not compose any good song for audiences. To illustrate, as we know jazz, pop or rock songs currently are developed by dependence on traditional music in the past.

On the other hand, international music may bring a lot of interesting things to the audiences. American music, for example, it brings an excitement to the listeners. The world is developing day by day, so that, people need to adapt to the new environment and including development of international music everywhere. The international music may bring everybody together. In addition, the traditional music may useful for old people to relax. However, young people who are more active need the international music to work harder and more effective.

In short, generally, both traditional music and international music are important because all of them have their own benefit. Traditional music is pretty good to introduce the culture to foreign country. International music may bring an exciting to work.
