

Some people prefer to dwell in rural areas as they believe it makes them live a healthier lifestyle. Do you agree or disagree? Support your answer.

I strongly agree with people who is interested in living in rural areas for healthier lifestyle. Nowadays, the more technology revolution increase, the more environments are destroyed, the less of fresh air we have.

After the first industrial evolution in England, the world has become so much different. More house is built, factories are constructed everywhere on the earth. As the matter of fact, we're losing space and also the fresh air day by day. Mega city has appeared all over the world, there are so many people in a city that we don't have enough land for living. The idea is we need fresh air and larger space at least for breathing. So the pure rural areas are the best choice.

But is space the only thing that we expect from the countryside? It's more. Coming along with the fresh air and space is the huge amount of environment. Countryside contains a lot of self production food. The worries about the poisoned meat or vegetable from repellent are gone. The rural areas consist not only fresh food but also many sports. It's very convenient for us to have a nature gym just outside our door. Jogging, hiking, mountain climbing, swimming... A little bit dangerous but it's worth for a healthy body.

Living in rural areas seems to be much more beautiful but there's something that pulls us back to the city. Countryside isn't the place which has many interest in public health. Fully equipped hospitals are all in the cities. The more distance from the city, the more risk you get when having health problem. You should have a good preparation before thinking about moving out of the city.

There are advantage and disadvantage about living in rural areas, but overall, it's still the best choice if you need a healthier lifestyle.

Good job. Organization and content very nice. You have some good vocabulary here too. Note that we should start with background info and then offer an opinion. Also, (...) which is called ellipsis, is not good for the IELTS test. Better to write: "and so" or list possibilities.
