

Discuss the advantages and disadvantages of living and working in the foreign country.

Currently, many people like going to different countries for working and living. It leads to that there are many positive and negative effects while people live and work in vary foreign country. Some main effects will be discussed in this essay.

The first advantage is salary because people are really need money to support their live. Some Vietnamese people, for instance, they like to move to US or Australia for living and working because they think they will get the higher income than in Vietnam and enjoy the standard life. Furthermore, people who want to travel are the poor people and live in the developing country. They may improve their current life and work in the new environment to get more experience. Finally, working and living in a foreign country may have some good benefit by the government after people retire.

On the other hand, working and living in a foreign country may bring some disadvantages. Traditional culture is the first disadvantage. It is really hard to live in a country which has a lot different culture. In UK, for example, the state food is very difficult to eat and the cost is very expensive. Next, people will be got homesick because their families are so far from them. Lastly, it is very dangerous when people go abroad for working and living because they do not understand about the new environment that they have to adapt quickly for the short period of time such as the new neighbors or the new law of the area.

In short, people should think clearly about this problem. It effect not only on their future life but also their family and the government. They should chose the best advantage for their own business.

Revised

Currently, many people like going to different countries for working and living. ~~It~~This leads to ~~that there are~~ many positive and negative effects ~~while-which~~ people experience when live-living and working in ~~vary-a~~ foreign country. Some of these main effects will be discussed in this essay.

The first advantage is salary because people ~~are~~-really need money to support their lives. Some Vietnamese people, for instance, they like to move to the US or Australia for living and working because they think they will get ~~the a~~ higher income than in Vietnam and enjoy ~~the a~~ higher standard of life. Furthermore, the people who want to travel are the poor people ~~and who~~ live in the developing countries. They ~~may can~~ improve their current life ~~and by~~ working in ~~the a~~ new environment to get more experience. Finally, working and living in a foreign country may have some good benefits by for the government after people retire.

On the other hand, working and living in a foreign country may bring some disadvantages.

Missing your tTraditional culture is the first disadvantage. It is really hard to live in a country which has a ~~lot very~~ different culture. In the UK, for example, the ~~state local~~ food is very difficult to eat and the cost is very expensive. Next, people ~~will be got get~~ homesick because their families are so far from them. Lastly, it is very dangerous when people go abroad for working and living because they do not understand about the new environment ~~that and~~ they have to adapt quickly ~~for their a~~ short period of time to things such as the new neighbors or the new laws of the area.

In short, people should think clearly about this problem. It effects s not only on their future life but also their family and the government. They should choose the best advantage for their own business.

Good job with organization and content. Take care with sentence structure and be sure to proofread more carefully.